Veterinary practices and emergency veterinary hospitals are experiencing an increased caseload during the pandemic. There are longer wait times for routine check ups and animal emergencies in Alberta.

Increased caseload takes a toll on your veterinary team. Please be patient, as we continue to provide the best treatment possible for the animals in our care.

Here's how you can help...

Emergencies

Think ahead...create an emergency preparedness plan

Know where the nearest emergency hospital is, and phone ahead before you go

Realize that medical cases are triaged with the sickest animal seen first

Routine Care

Book appointments well in advance

Allow extra time for refills, special diet orders, and other requests

Please be patient and kind to your veterinary team
